Award winning Book of Year for Family Values- What is the value of sharing, taking action, and seeing another person's point of view? Meet two families who feel it's their responsibility to give back to others. Through delightful and whimsical illustrations, Just Because shows us how easy it is to give back to our community and to see things from a different perspective.

Just Because was inspired by Amber's ongoing volunteer experiences with children and families in need through organizations like Building Bridges charity. Portions of the book's proceeds will benefit Building Bridges and their efforts.

"Helping kids understand how alike we all are despite our differences is tough. The Flip Side stories really help us all remember how much we have in common and reminds us of the joy of connecting with and helping each other. What a fun way to teach this important value!"
Molly O'Shea, MD, FAAP

Author Visits

Visiting schools, libraries and book stores is a great way for me to meet the children and families who read my books. It is important to teach the value of reading and writing and encourage life long learning.

Speaking to teachers and other adults allows me to share my experiences as a teacher, mother, writer and a published author. My goal is to inspire children, and the adults who love them, to see new perspectives and points of view using my personal experiences and the stories I have written.

Empathy and compassion are important qualities to have and I hope that looking at the Flip Side will encourage families and schools to be more giving in their communities and find ways to help those in need no matter how big or small.

I use visual aides to share the illustration and writing processes. I welcome questions throughout my presentations and will have a question and answer time at the end of the session.

Visit my website for details about my visits and what to expect and how to prepare.
